An Appeal for Justice.—Mr President, inasmuch as the people of the South had no just cause for the commencement of the rebellion, let us be carreful not to furnish them with one for the justification of similar attempts in the future, by forcing upon them taxation without representation and thus placing them where they can avail themselves of the precedent senctified by the struggles of our revolutionary fathers. Though they have been in the wrong, and have committed a great crime, let us not violate our own sense of justice by heaping upon them the very outrages which justified the Colonies in resisting a similar tyrannical exercise of power upon the part of Great Britain. RED PERSONS WAITING FOR DEATE.-We of the Austrian steamer London, off the English coast, with over two hundred lives, but later foreign papers supply additional details of the most painfully-thrilling interest.

On the 11th of London of the world.

Your correspondent must have been a sponge for some time past. But, in the homely and yet old adage, "What's the use of crying when the milk is spillec?" So here's for a dash into things generally. have already published an account of the wreck On the 11th of January, after vain attempt to put the vessel back for England, the eptain told the passengers that they was launched and instantly swamped. The five men on board her, however, succeeded in regaining the ship. Finally, sixteen of the crew gaining the ship. Finally, sixteen of the crew and three passengers emberked in the pinnance, and succeeded in reaching land. These were all that were saved. The Captain declined to join them, saying, "No, I will go down with the passengers; but I wish you God speed, and safe to land." A few minutes later the London went down, with two hundred and seventy souls on board. Just as the pinnance left, the Captain told them what course to steer, giving the directions with great calamess. Some of the passengers were greatly frightered, but others, some of them women, had grown very calm. Some held prayer meetings in the cabins; others assisted the sailors in their vain attempts to save the westel. An old couple, who had three children with them, and made three children with them, and made three children with them, and made three attempts to go upon their voyage, being wrecked in the first two, and perishing in the third. An old couple who had been sent for by their only son in Australia, on learning that they must drown, took a small quantity of brandy and went below to die tegether in the cabin. Gustavus Brooke, the tragedian, who was a passenger, worked manfully to assist the screw, and then sat down, calmly watching the searce. To one of the party in the pinnance health? At that moment those in the boat were pite usly called upon by a lady about twenty-three ears of age, who, with a face which was, it is ated, livid with horror, shrieked out an offer "a thousand guineas if you'll take me in." would have been accounted valueless, and o all. One of the seamen has stated that ain had wished those in her "God speed," e men resolved that no danger must crowding, and that some of them drew their mives with a determination of cutting off the ands of those who might leap from the ship ad endeavor to cling to the boat's gunwales. t is also stated that long before this, when it was first made known that the vessel must go own, a passenger brought on deck a carpetag, and that on his doing so the Captain gave short, melancholy laugh, and then smiled, as one of the passengers expressed it, "at the preposterous idea of the man's thinking at such a time of his property." Two passengers were seen with life-belts, but probably none were alive when they came to urface. The spectacle was only to be seen for in the din of the tempest no cry from the sinking multitude could be heard, and soon not seen that all on deck were driven torward, no water, but by a tremendous and overpowging rush of air from below, which, as it caped through the deck as well as the hatches. imvelled all on deck forward with violence, and heir dreadful struggle must have been soon

SENATOR NESMITH OF OREGON ON RECON-TRUCTION. - One of the ablest and most convincing speeches that have been delivered during the present session of Congress was that made by senator Nesmith, of Oregon, in the Senate, on the 18th on the subject of reconstruction. We make some extracts from the official report. showing the tone and temper of his remarks: NEWSPAPER GOSSIP.

showing the tone and temper of his remarks:

A Demand for Southern Representation.—Recognition and representation in Congress establish and maintain a republican principle vital to our system and sanctified to us by the struggles of our fathers. We tax the South, and we shall tax it heavily hereafter. The public necessities and the principle of equal taxation make this a necessity. But it will be injust, odious, and anti-republican, tojtax them without admitting them to representation in that Government by which the taxes are imposed. Finally, by recognition and renewed representation in Congress, we restore all the great interests of the country, and they will again have a due voice in the Government, and participate in the debates by which its policy is shaped and determined. And it will be particularly useful, as well as just, that upon questions affecting the Southern people their Representatives shall be beard before the laws by which they are to be bound shall be enacted.

The Southern States have been out of the Union, and that an act of Congress is necessary to readmit or restore them. It is true that people South voted to go out of the Union, and took up aims to sustain that resolution. That is undeniably true.

Some long-faced gentlemen have called upon the Chicago Tribune and asked the proprietors to discontinue printing a Sunday edition of the Tribune. As the Sunday paper pays, their request was not compiled with, and the gentlemen who made themselves so officious were sent off with a flea in their ears.

On yesterday, I called on my genial friend Brentano, editor in chief of the Staats Zeitung, We found him cheeriul and busy as usual. He persists in calling us "A. Ward," and says that a man of our style can be no relation to the Adonis family. To be connected with some papers as a writer is the height of their ambition. They are innocent to believe they could make a name for themselves, and live immortal in the classic regions of fame. The Chicago Republican has suspended the publication of its Sunday edition. It did not pay financially, and, as it kept the editors from praying, the publisher thought it best to discontinue its pernicious influence in a moral as well is inhancial sense.

I have had the pleasure of making the acquaintance of C. C. Pomeroy, Esq., a graduate of Transylvania Collega, in your State, and well known to hosts of Kentuckians. Mr. P. is practicing law in this city, but his love for literature steals upon him occasionally, when he graces the columns of the press with many fine and well-written articles. He is now a thorough going temperance man—which will be glad news to his many friends—and is writing a series of autobiographies of distinguished personages whom he has known in life. Among them are many distinguished Kentuckians. When the series are completed they will be published in book form.

THEATRICAL. Forrest has been playing here for two weeks to excellent houses. His role is principally Shakesperian. It is needless to say that he is paster of the American stage. Laura Koene has just finished an engagement ere, which was neither a lamentable failure or a splendid success. Owing to the late war between the clergy and actors in this city—and in which the latter are said to have come out first best—I regret that a morbid desire for theatrical fame has seized many of our most intelligent young women. In fact, the beauty and intellect of Chicago is "stage-struck"—to use no milder term. Not less than twenty-five young ladies, of respecta-ble families, are now studying for the stage, be-sides a bety who indulge in private theatri-cals. What could be more demoralizing? SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1866.

JOURNAL OFFICE, LOUISVILLE, KY., Feb. 8, 1866

Mojor-General John M. Palmer, Commanding Department of Kentucky: GENERAL: Knowing you to be intimately ac ated with the views of the authorities at Washington, and taking it for granted that you desire to promote unity of action between the authorities of this State and the National Govnent in the settlement of the difficulties which surround our citizens, we address you ication in order to obtain from you what, in your judgment, will the most speedily remove these difficulties, effect the restoration of the writ of habeas corpus, the removal of troops and the Freedmen's Bureau from the State of Kentucky.

You are a Kentuckian by birth, and must b fully aware how objectionable to the people of Kentucky the suspension of this writ and the presence of troops and the Freedmen's Bureau are to them. If the war is over and peace restored, why should not Kentucky be relieved from all interference with her internal affairs on the part of the National Government?

The people of our State ever treated their slaves with humanity and kindness. The exceptions to this were not more numerous or more aggravated than have been the violations of law in the best-regulated communities where no slaves existed; and, now that slavery has fact, and, we believe, are willing to do all in their power to promote the welfare and protect the rights of the freed people. That outrages not deny. There is no State entirely free from crime, despite all the efforts that have been wille, and no trace of the assassin has yet been found. Is that crime an argument for the

The people of Kentucky are not willing to accord to the freedmen superior privileges, and they are not willing that the agents of the to their families and themselves, to discharge Freedmen's Bureau should rule the State according to their own dicta, regardless of law; nor are they-the white people-willing that all the disturbances which occur should be charged exclusively to them.

Asking an early reply, we are, very respect fully, your obedient servants. PRENTICE, HENDERSON, & OSBORNE

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF KENTUCKY, LOUISVILLE, KY., Feb. 9, 1866. Messrs. Prentice, Henderson, &

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to acknowledge instant in which you properly take for granted that I desire to promote unity of action between the authorities of this State and the National ernment in the settlement of the difficulties which surround the citizens of Kentucky, and inquire what, in my judgment, will the most speedily remove the difficulties, secure the resto tion of the writ of habeas corpus, the removal of the troops and the Freedmen's Bureau from the State, and ask, "If the war is over and peace restored, why should not Kentucky be relieved from all interference with her internal affairs on the part of the National Government?" proceed at once to say that it does not requir that intimate knowledge of the "views of the Washington authorities," which you are pleased. to attribute to me, to answer your specific question above quoted, nor your general statements alties which surround the people of Kentucky in their relations with the National vernment. The public acts and declarations of the President, his official orders and dis patches, under the authority of which the suspension of the wrlt of habeas corpus is cor tinued, and the troops, and the Freedmen's Rn. reau, introduced into, and kept in, the State, furnish an ample statement of the reason which influence his actions, and point, with the utmost certainty, to the means which must e employed to procure a change in his policy. The measures of which that portion of the peo ple of Kentucky whose feelings you express complain, had their origin in necessity, and I orized to assert that no disposition exists at Washington to continue them in the State one moment after the necessity ceases.

Waiving all discussion of the question whether the war has ceased or not, it is appa State. More than twenty thousand persons, who were for a longer or shorter period of time in arms for the avowed purpose of overthrow. ing the government of the State of Kentucky and forcing its unwilling people into sucjection to a hostile revolutionary government, have returned to the State, welcomed back to their former homes in many cases by communities that regard them as patriots and heroes. Ir many such communities, loval citizens and soldiers are objects of prejudice, dislike, and often

Courts organized under the laws of the State for the equal distribution of justice, in many instances have permitted themselves to be used as the mere instruments of the vengeance of those who are hostile to the government, so that loyal men are still, in some parts of the State, compelled to leave their homes, or, if hey remain, are constrained to feel that their lives and property, and all their dearest interests, are insecure.

The duty of protecting all the people of the State, and especially those who have periled their lives in its defense, is one that no Goyernment can neglect, and, at the same time escape the imputation of ingratitude and sub jecting itself to merited contempt. It is also true that upward of two hundred thousand o the people who were, until lately, slaves are now free. As slaves they were governed by a system of law adapted to their condition, but the same laws were intended to embarrass them

The slave laws fell with the destruction of slavery and left the State without a system of government or laws adapted to the necessitie of this two hundred thousand of its people, who have now devolved upon them the duties of obedience to the Government and the discharge of many public and private obligations, to which they have heretofore been strangers, and yet have not, under existing laws of the State, the rights of either citizens or aliens.

The President of the United States, under these circumstances, has attempted to discharge toward the State of Kentucky, for the benefit of such of its people as are not yet embraced within its general system of protective laws, the Constitutional duty of providing for them a shot the mark and produced an overwhelmi Government-a duty which does not originate n any law enacted by Congress, but from the Constitution itself.

I am aware of the fact, though I do not pretend to speak by authority, that it is the opinion of "the authorities at Washington," that ment deemed itself omnipotent and would lis-ten to "no compromise." There are thousands the duty of giving protection and law to all the inhabitants of the State of Kentucky properly of men in the United States to-day-well meandevolves upon the authorities of the State, and that Federal interference for that purpose re- ing at that, many of them-as blind as the Britsults entirely from Constitutional duty and neishers were in 1766, as bigoted and as stupid as old George III. and his special supporters. It is certainly the right as well as the duty of We ought to learn lessons from the history of the States within certain limits to regulate their own internal affairs. This right is not denied, We do not despair of the Republic. We beand it will be observed that the representatives lieve it may be saved and made more united of the General Government in this State, under the Freedmen's Bureau, where its powers have and glorious than it ever was before; but this cannot be done without moderation, without a been rightly understood, do not act adversely to desire to conciliate the Southern States. It is the duty of the General Government, with or without the concurrence of the State, to protect the liberty of the people, and in case of non-action on the part of the State authorities to provide them with a government which shall be adequate to the ends for which governments are ordained amongst men. As, then, the State has so far altogether negcted to provide a special system of laws for its freed people, or to include them within the provisions of its generat laws which define and protect the rights of all other inhabitants of the State, upon what grounds do any of her people complain of "the interference of the National Gay-ernment?" Nor are the authorities of the law wholly to ame for this failure of justice, for I have now in my possession the most satisfactory proof by the statements of colored persons who, I am assured, are of good character, of the murder of o negroes by white men, who are beyond the reach of criminal justice because of the legal competency of colored persons to be witnesses in the courts. In addition to outrages of that kind, com inations of lawless men exist in many places to drive the colored people from the State, and prevent them from obtaining employment. Proof from the most respectable source has been laid before me of these facts; still none are punished. Such acts, I gladly confess, are condemned by the great mass of the citizens, but none demand their punishment. White men naturally desire to escape the ill-will of these self-styled "Regulators," and negroes, however much they may be outraged and injured in person or prop erty, will not be heard by the courts or juries. Does not this "internal affair" of allowing its purts to listen (not believe unless convinced), to the complaints of men and women who suf-

Respectfully, JOHN M. PALMER. EX-PERSIDENT PIERCE ON THE PRESIDENT.

The following paragraph is from our dispatches At the New Hampshire Democratic Conver at the New Hampshire Democratic Conven-tion Ex-President Pierce made a brief address, in which he said: Our country has passed through serious perils, but I hope that we are now emerging from the thick darkness which at one time brooded over us. The present time calls for the calm, dispassionate and patriotic exertions of all good men in the work of re-storation, not merely in form but a restoration of common interests, fraternal feelings and storation, not merely in form but a restoration of common interests, fraternal feelings, and equality of rights among all the States. I think I can discern a gleam of light. The annual message of President Johnson was admirable, and in my judgment his subsequent steps looking to a restoration have been guided by wisdom, patriotism, and statesmanship forecast. I am pleased to greet as co-workers in a noble cause all men who desire the immediate restoration of the Southern States to their civil rights and who are willing to join efforts in saving whatever may be saved for the prosperity of our common country. Under any circumstances it would be abject to despair of the Republic.

It is a perfect and miraculous article. Cures baldness. Makee hair grow. A better dressing than any "oil" or "pomatum." Softees brash, dry, and wiry hair into Beautiful Silten Tresses. But, above all, the great wonder is the rapidity with which it restores GRAY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR.

Use it a few times, and CHANGE!

the whitest and worst looking hair resumes its youthful beauty. It does not dye the hair, but strikes at the root and fills it with new life and coloring matter.

It will not take a long, disagreeable trial to prove the truth of this matter. The first application will do good; you see the MATURAL COLOR returning every day, and

The whole amount of the proceedings in this. case is this: A white man is arrested upon the charge of having "killed a negro man:" he is arrested, brought before the civil authorities of the State for trial. Whilst in the charge of the Sheriff, and in the presence of the Court, he is, by order of the Freedmen's Bureau, taken from the civil authorities and sent to Camp Nelson, a military post, and eventually to be tried by a military commission. Mr. Poor was not in the military service of the United States, nor was the murdered man; neither had any connection with the military authorities in any way, nor was the act committed at any post, garrison, or camp, or other place under the exclusive jurisdiction of the military authorities. From the New York Sunday Times. THE FAMILY SEWING MACHINE BY JENNIE JUNE.

To understand the value of the Sewing M hine, and the happy changes which it has ef-ected in the social and family relations, one must be familiar with the quiet households cattered throughout the East and West, the orth and South, of this great and the any kind is so difficult to be obtained, that i searcely looked for, and every good housewif se in order, her larder well supplied with the essential luxuries of home-made bread, cake, and pies, but her own, the children's, and requently her husband's wardrobe farnished with all the useful, if not the ornamental, arisks of designs.

irequency ner husband's wardrobe farnished with all the useful, if not the ornamental, articles of dress.

The necessity provided an immense amount of work for one pair of hands to perform—the female head of the house, the hard-tasked wife and mother found not a moment for relaxation. The drudgery of the kitchen was succeeded by that of the work basket, whose pile of shirts and small garments seemed never to decrease. Not a moment of time could be afforded for the gratification of any simple fancy, even an ornamental needlework, all, to the last moment, and far into Saturday hight, was exhausted in the necessities of the plainest work upon little aprons, frocks, and drawers, and the inevitable weekly collection of family mending.

In a large number of these households the case is now widely different, the Sawing Machine, ger erally the Grover & Baker, occupies an hoored place in the family sitting-room, and accomplishes more and better than the most skillful seamstress. It is in a sense, which only those can appreciate who have known what is to sew all the household garments by band, the family friend. It is looked upon with rever of real affection.

The interior of a country house, at this sea-hand, the family friend. It is looked upon with eyes of real affection.

The interior of a country house, at this searon of the year, is as pleasant as can be imagined; and it is made so, in a great degree, by the presence of a Sewing Macbine. An hour's work in the aftern on, upon a bright, rapid, wonder-working Grover & Baker, will accomplish more than could be done by a weary hand working almost into midnight. It will not only inish the dozen shirts in 'less than no time,' but it will tuck drawers and chemises, ruffle nightgowns, stitch troweers, quilt linings and coverilde, and all this, and much more, with such strength, beauty, and precision, as would throw the neatest hand-work into the shade. If a Sewing Machine needs only to be purchased once in a lifetime, it is therefore of the greatest importance to get the best; the one which, all things considered, is most perfectly adapted to meet the requirements.

refrighter the requirements. This, we sincerely believe, and the opinion is orroborated by the highest authorities in the community, is the Grover & Baker Machine haling the celebrated "Grover & Baker" stitch, e only stitch, as far as we know, sufficiently astic to be adopted to all kinds of family

The peculiar qualities of the Grover & Baker The peculiar qualities of the Grover & Baker Machine are strength, beauty, elssicity, and versatility, or adaptation to any kind of work. It compasses the whole range of family sewing completely, and without any of the vexatious delays in rewinding, fasteniag, and finishing, which are common to other machines, and which occupy so much time, and waste so much material. It makes a beautiful, smooth, elastic scam upon cloth or cambric, which gives when it is washed or stretched without breaking, and in which every stitch is so firmly locked that the seam can be cut off between every half dozen stitches without impairing its strength. Testimonial letters from ladies and house-keepers all over the country, speak unitedly of the beauty and superior elasticity of stitch. One lady says, it is the only machine that can "quilit," another, that it is the only one "fit for uilt;" another, that it is the only one "fit fo 'quili;" another, that it is the only one in for loys' trousers," and a third, that she is particularly delighted with the way in which it makes woolen drawers and flannel garments."

The Grover & Baker stitch is the only one at can be properly used upon bias seams, a therefore adapted to an immense variety is therefore adapted to an immense variety of garments containing such seams, and also seems which are subjected to much stretching and wear. In addition to the fact that no rewinding and no fastening is required, a great deal of time, and temper too, is saved to the operator, by the symplicity, regularity, and ease of the various movements, the adjustment without change of tension to different kind of work, and the method by which it is thrown from the machine, without delay or embarrasment, and also in such way as to enable the operator to maintain a pleasant and graceful position.

For Drest-makers the Grover & Baker is the only suitable machine; it is the only one that will accomplish satisfact rily, and with an immense saving of time, all the plain sewing, settiching, and quilting which they have to accomplish.

mplish. For the heads of families it is equally value For the neads of families it is equally valua-ble. It will do everything. It is simple, reliable, perfect in its operation, easy to be understood, not easy to get out of order, and gives such thorough satisfaction, as to leave no room for

Mr. Davis, of Kentucky, offered a resolution declaring that as charges of peculation and fisud had been made against the Cotton Agent of the Treasury Department, a committee be raised to investigate such charges.

Mr. Davis had been informed from various sources of the truth of these charges. He had been told by a friend who had the means of knowing that within his own experience in the South there was not a man connected with the Treasury Department within a swoop of one thousand miles who had not been corrupted. He would agree to substantiate the charges if the committee should be formed.

Mr. Sherman said the charge of Mr. Davis was very sweeping in its character. The Secretary of the Treasury had told him the most vicient charges were generally brought against the most faithful filters. He called on Mr. Davis to make a specific charge, and he would guarantee a fair investigation.

Mr. Davis called for the appointment of a committee, the majority of whom would be favorable to a fair investigation. He had been told that General Dana, while in command on the Mississippi, had selzed and appropriated cotton belonging to private citizens, and used the proceeds for his own benefit. He did not think it fair to piace such an investigation in the hands of men who wanted to stifle it. He would ask nothing more than a fair committee.

Pending this discussion the morning hour expired and the joint resolution to amend the Constitution of the United States was taken up. Mr Johnson took the floor and said in the remarks he was about to make he would address himself first to the consideration of the recolution, to ascertain its meaning, and, secondly, to the supposed necessity which caused such an amendment, and, thirdly, the effect upon the condition of the country in this as upon every other case upon which human judgment is to be exercised. It is very important we should distinctly understand that the measure under consideration is the second section of the first article of the Constitution, which regulates the mode in which representation and taxation are to be ascertaired. It makes both depend upon the same fact, and representation is to be apportioned according to numbers, and direct apont the same neck, and representation is to be apportioned according to numbers, and direct taxation to be apportioned in the same way. As the resolution was first reported from the committee, it stood in that way upon the recommitment. The provision which it originally contained relative to direct taxation was annulled, and it now stands as a proposition to amend the Constitution so as to affect atone the second section of article first of the Constitution, as it relates to the mode in which the number of representatives is to be ascertained. The Senate will remember that representation was based on numbers, with two exceptions; the first exception was Indians who were not taxed; the other was that portion of the people in the Southern States who were held in slavery, which was not to be taken in account as to its entire extent, but only to the extent of three-fifths of the whole; that, as the Constitution now stands, and slavery no longer exists, the Southern States would be entitled to representatives for the whole number ortioned according to numbers, and direct forger exists, the Southern States would be entitled to representatives for the whole number of people there. NEW YORK, Feb. 9

Horace Greeley was elected President of the American Institute.

The Paris correspondent of the Herald says of the opening of the French Legislature: The ceremony was remarkable, from the fact that for the first time the Prince Imperial instead of coming in with the Empress as a child and remaining with her in the tribune, occupying the seat on his left. The Emperor was evidently very anxious to know the impression his speech created among the American community in Paris. This morning in conversal in with an American gentleman, who is greatly in his confidence, he asked him what was the feeling among the Americans relative to that portion of his speech relating to the United States and Mexico, and upon being informed that it was highly favorable, his Majesty replied: He was very glad of it, as it was his intention and desire in the preparation of h is discourse to assure the United States Government that his feelings toward it were of the most friendly nature.

Mr. O'Neil, of Pennsylvania, introduced a bill extending the benefits of section 4 of the army appropriation bill, approved March 3, 1865, so as to give all officers of volunter'rs below the rank of Brigadier-General, who were mustered out at their own request or otherwise, and honorably discharged after. April 19, 1865, three months 'nay, the same as if they had been From the Commercial's monetary article we extract the following: The stock market retains the improved one noted yesterday. The improved returns of some roads have encouraged the bulls to buy their stock with a view to availing themselves of large outstanding short contracts. There is, however, little condence in any permanent improvement. Chicago and Alton rose again 1/4; the stock is in demand in anticipation of an extra dividend. The last steemer brought home considerable lots of Erie, which had been sent out by parties here on speculation. Governments are quiet but firm; old 5 20's rather weak in anticipation of a return of bonds from Europe. The report current yesterday that a large amount of 5-20's had been returned here appears to have no foundation; 7 30's firm but dull; 1 year certificates are in demand and firmer. The treasury has adopted the course of paying quartermaster's checks one-half in certificates, which will diminish the supply of certificates, which will diminish the supply of certificates.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

Naw Year. Feb. 9.

Senor Mackenna publishes a letter in the Herald this morning attempting to explain the circumstances connected with the recent proceedings against him by the authorities, on suspicion of his implication in a scheme to fit out an expedition in this city to assist Chill in her war with Spain. He says that all the mysterious details, the novel incidents of his arrest, and the invention of all the stories published by the press, are each and all of them ficticious, gotten up to excite animosity, or, perhaps, detated by less noble motives.

He is assured that Spanish agents were found in the neighborhood of his house at the time when the attempt to take him to prison took place, and that these same agents insisted that the public functionary should execute it. He says that at this time he will not say a single ord in regard to his alleged proposition to it ut an expedition against the dominions of the ducen of Spain; neither will he explain the Queen of Spsin: neither will be explain the errors made by the telegraph in the transmission of the dispatches of Mr. Asta Barsia, Chilian Minister at Washington. For all this the proper time will come before the tribunal of justice and before the grand jury of public opinion. He adds:

"I will come forward alone to maintain the justice and legality of my proceedings, and then the people of the United States and the civil world in general shall know if the grand principles which were the glory, the power, the prestige of this country in the old time, are to-day only shadows of the past, or if they may still be seen like a rainbow of hope by freemen and free people who may be subjected to the aggressions of crowned usurpers, from the Rio Grande to the archipelago of Chiloe."

A Buenos Ayres correspondent writes: The loss of all the Paraguayan troops that had invadtd Brazil by crossing the Araguay river, was followed by the precipitate retreat to their own territory of all their forces that were occupying Corrientes for more that a week. The work of controlling the allied land and naval forces had so progressed that on the 25th of January they would make a grand combined attack, with 45,000 troops and thirty war steamers, on the Paraguayan stronghold of Huawaita, on Paraguay river. This is a place of immense strength, mount-To-day was set apart in the House of Representatives for a discussion of the amendment of the amendment to the "Freedmen's Bureau law," reported by Mr. Elliot, from Massachusetts. The speakers opposing the bill were, first, Mr. Marshall, of Ill., who treated the House to a very eloquent and able argument. Mr. Ritter, of Ky., next read a well-written speech, which was attentively listened to, and which shounded with figures showing the increased expenditure to which the Government will be subjected by the passage of the act. But the sensation speech was that delivered by Gen. Loveil H. Rousseau, of your city. It was evidently not a prepared speech, but I do not think that any previous preparation could have improved it; and for one hour and a half he retained the fixed attention of the members of the House without distinction of party. It is true that the fierce blows he dealt around him would occasionally bring some member to his feet for the purpose of a personal explanation, but with this exception perfect silence existed throughout the chamber, save once when a noble and finely-expressed sentiment occasioned a universal burst of applause. nd naving to back it a Faraguayan army of 5,000 or 20,000, and a considerable fleet. LETTER FROM DALTON, GA.—THE UNRE-LIABLE CONDITION OF THE SOUTHERN MAIL LINE—A REMEDY CALLED FOR. DALTON, GA., Feb. 1, 1866. To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

I am not good or bad—whichever you pleare—at grumbling, but I, for many days, have been sorely tried by the negligence of postmasters, post-office agents, mall-carriers, or somebody. I am a subscriber for your Daily Journal, and get one semi-occasionally—sometimes one in a week, sometimes one in ten days, and sometimes not at all until it has made half a score or less of trips from Nashville to Atlanta and back. The fault is at either Louisville, Nashville, or Chattanoogs; for, if the papers are put on the cars at Louisville, they come to Nashville to Chattanooga, and the same from Nashville to Chattanooga, and the same from Chattanooga here.

from Chattanooga here.

I have been nursing my wrath for two months, and new it is boiling hot. The last Journal I got was of the date of Jan. 22d, until to-day, at which time one came in on the train from Augusta, dated the 17th of last month. Now just let in. Give 'somebody' Hail Columbia. Things are very quiet here. Little of interest is transpiring. The Freedmen's Bureau, the status of the negro for the future, and our Congressmen afford fruitful themes for discussion and grounbiling. Georgia is not working up to the Precident's standard, and, in my opinion, does not intend to do it. A code for the freedmen has been reported by a committee appointed for that purpose by the convention which remodeled the Constitution, and the Legislature is now at work on it. A stray copy has fallen into my hands, and, after a careful examination. I have come to the conclusion that it is all wrong. The careful examination if have come to the negro is not understood or acted upon in any of the States. In a state of nature, all ments, it becomes necessary, and, therefore, proper, to restrict or a bridge the rights and privileges of certain persons, and, sometimes, of certain classes of persons. Woman, although naturally having the same rights a men, are not, for the general benefit of society, permitted to exercise them, and so with the negro. The sex and habits of women are reasons for restriction on the rights of negroes. The negro has the rights one of curtailing their rights, and the lack of mental and moral culture are reasons for restrictions on the rights of negroes. What upon earth is Kentucky after? Does she mean to get up a small rebellion on her own hook? Things look that way. And if such men as John L. Helm, Laz. W. The remembrance of the above paragraph in your paper some time ago induces me to tell you of an old man whom we see coming into Knoxyille about once a week. We call him Grandpa Davis He is upward of ninety years old. His wife has given birth to twenty nine children, twenty-eight of whom are living. They furnished the Union army, in the late war, with twenty-fire recruits. Is there another nan who deserves the appellation of "loyal" o a greater extent than Grandpa Davis?
